

University of Brighton

School of Environment & Technology Seminar Series Easter term 2012

All seminars 1 to 1.50 pm in Huxley 400/401

ALL WELCOME

Date	Seminar
12 January 2012	Professor Melanie Newport Brighton and Sussex Medical School Emerging Infectious Diseases: from global to local
19 January 2012	Dr Jonathan Caplin Division of Geography and Geology Decoding the genome – GB124 bacteriophage genes and faecal source tracking
9 February 2012	Dr Craig Storey University of Portsmouth The evolution of the continental crust: new insights from accessory minerals
16 February 2012	Dr Kaiming She Division of the Built Environment and Civil Engineering SeaShell WEC – Renewable wave energy and sea defences in one
23 February 2012	Dr Jindrich Kynicky Mendel University in Brno, Czech Republic Deposits of critical metals in Mongolia and China
1 March 2012	Daniel Sanmartin and Ayo Lawal University of Brighton and PSM Instrumentation Ltd Transferring sensing technologies to soil and water applications: PSM instrumentation as a case study
8 March 2012	Dr Stephanie Barnett University of Portsmouth Blast testing of ultra high performance fibre reinforced concrete
15 March 2012	Dr James Ebdon Division of Geography and Geology Faecal matters: From Haywards Heath to Honolulu
22 March 2012	Dr Enrique Martinez-Rueda Division of the Built Environment and Civil Engineering Scaling of earthquake accelerograms ...or May I borrow your earthquake?